

Choice of Plant Protection Products

The choice of plant protection products is made by competent advisors or owners/operators. The attached documentation demonstrates competence of those people to make decisions about the type and quantity of product to use.

INSTRUCTIONS:

You need to be able to demonstrate that the person who chooses what chemicals are used on your crops and the dosage is competent, even if that person is yourself. You can do this by printing recertification course records, degrees, certificates, etc....