

Water Microbial Standards

Any water used during harvest and/or cooling of produce must meet microbial standards set for drinking water. All water will be handled in such a way as to prevent produce contamination.